4. The Inspector shall enforce the provisions of these regulations.

5. Nothing in these regulations shall require the removal, alteration, or abandonment of, nor prevent continuance of the use or occupancy of, an existing building unless in the opinion of the Inspector the building or its use constitutes a hazard to the safety and welfare of the public, or to the owners of adjacent property, or in the opinion of the Medical Health Officer the building or its use constitutes a menace to public health.

7. (1) Except as provided in subsection (2), no person shall commence the erection of, or an alteration or addition to, or a repair affecting the structural stability of, a building or structure in the area without first obtaining a permit in respect thereof from the Inspector.

(2) Where work, commenced before the date of these regulations on a building which does not conform to these regulations or which is intended for a non-conforming use, has been discontinued, such work may be resumed within six months of such date. Sufficient progress in the work shall then be made to the satisfaction of the Inspector, otherwise any further construction or use shall be in conformity with these regulations.

8. No person shall move a building or structure, other than small accessory buildings, within or to any part of the area without first obtaining a permit in respect thereof from the Inspector.

9. Before considering an application for a permit, the Inspector shall require the applicant to furnish such plans, specifications, and other information as he thinks proper.

10. Except as provided in Regulation 26 hereof, the Inspector shall not issue a permit for any building unless it complies with the requirements of the following clauses:—

(a) Any building intended for animal or human habitation or as a place where people may congregate, such as a community hall, dance-hall, or similar use, or as a food-catering establishment, shall have provision made for sewage-disposal satisfactory to the Medical Health Officer, and the water-supply shall be satisfactory to the Medical Health Officer:

(b) There shall not be more than one dwelling on each six thousand square feet of land, except on a lot of smaller size on record at the date of these regulations, at which time the owner of the lot did not own either of the adjoining lots:

(c) Structural details shall comply with the National Building Code of the National Research Council of Canada; plumbing installations shall comply with sections K.1.1. to K.6.4.2., inclusive, of Appendix K of said National Building Code; and sewage-disposal systems and septic tanks shall comply with the requirements of Schedule A hereof:

- (d) Any building intended for human habitation as a single-family dwelling shall have a floor area of not less than five hundred square feet; any building intended for human habitation as a two-family dwelling shall have a floor area of not less than eight hundred square feet; living-quarters above stores or in multiple dwellings shall have a floor area of not less than four hundred square feet per housekeeping unit:

- (g) Where land is occupied or is to be occupied by more than three dwellings per acre or by more than three families per acre, if a sufficient water-supply is available, flush-toilets draining into septic tanks or otherwise satisfactory to the Medical Health Officer shall be provided:
- (h) Where privies are permitted, they shall conform to the requirements of section 16 (f) of the Regulations for the Sanitary Control of Industrial Camps:
- (i) No open-joint tiling in a sewage-disposal field and no building, other than accessory buildings which the Medical Health Officer considers not likely to cause pollution of water, shall be erected within a less distance than fifty feet from the normal high-water line of any lake, the waters of which are used for swimming or drinking by human beings, nor from any stream draining into such a lake, provided that the prohibition in case of any said stream may be waived at the discretion of the Medical Health Officer.

11. (1) Tourist camps conforming with the regulations made under the "Tourist Camp Regulation Act" shall be exempted from the requirements of Regulation 10 (d) hereof.

(2) Tourist camps shall be located only on sites approved by the Appeal Board.

(5) All structures shall conform with the provisions of the "Fire Marshal Act" and with any regulations pursuant thereto.

(6) No building shall be used for a purpose other than that for which a permit was issued except with the written permission of the Inspector.

12. The Inspector may withhold a permit for, or order the removal of, any structure, the existence of which is in his opinion contrary to public interest. The Inspector in his order for removal shall name a time by which such structure shall be removed and give the reasons for requiring said removal.

13. If a permittee has not commenced to exercise his rights under the permit within six months from date of issue, the permit shall expire.

14. Where a person obtains a permit, he shall carry out the construction in accordance with the terms on which the permit is based and not otherwise.

15. The Inspector shall have power to enter upon and inspect every building in the course of construction in the area.

16. If any person is erecting a building without a permit, or that is not in accordance with the plans and specifications on which the permit is based, the Inspector may:—

- (a) Order that person to cease building; or
- (b) Order that person to conform to the plans and specifications; or
- (c) Order that person to remove the building within a time-limit to be stated in the order.

17. With the consent of the Appeal Board, the owner of any building that does not conform to the provisions of Regulation 10 hereof may be ordered by the Inspector to make such alterations or additions or do anything that may be necessary to bring said buildings into conformity with said regulation by a date to be specified in the order.

18. Every person to whom an order is directed pursuant to these regulations shall obey the order.

19. If the Medical Health Officer having jurisdiction in the area finds that any building is dangerous to health, he shall so notify the owner of the land, and he may either:—

- (a) Require the owner to put the building in a safe condition within the period of time limited in the order; or
- (b) Require the owner or occupant of the building to vacate it within thirty days from the date of the order, and he may also order the owner to demolish the building within a time limited in the order.

APPEAL.

20. (1) Except in the case of subdivision requirements in respect of which provision for appeal is made in the "Land Registry Act," any person who considers that any refusal to grant him a permit, or any order issued to him under these regulations, will cause him undue hardship shall have a right of appeal by way of a hearing before the Board of Appeal.

(2) Any person exercising the right of appeal shall file with the secretary of the Board of Appeal within ten days of the giving of any decision under the foregoing regulations a written notice of appeal therefrom, which shall state clearly the grounds upon which the appeal is made. The appellant shall therein give an address to which all notices may be mailed.

(3) The secretary shall notify the chairman of the Board of Appeal of said notice of appeal; the said chairman shall set a date for the hearing of the appeal, which shall be within ten days of the filing of the notice of appeal. Four days' notice of the said hearing shall be mailed by the secretary, by registered mail to the appellant, posted to the address given in said notice of appeal, and to such other persons as may be designated by said chairman.

21. (1) The Board of Appeal shall consist of three members, one of whom shall be the Government Agent at Prince George, who shall act as chairman, and the other two members shall be resident registered land-owners in the area and shall be appointed by the Minister of Municipal Affairs.

(2) Two members shall constitute a quorum.

(3) In the event of the death, resignation, or removal from office of any member of the Board, the vacancy thereby created shall be filled as soon as possible after the death, resignation, or removal, and until the appointment of a successor to such member, the remaining members shall constitute the Board.

22. The Board of Appeal may hear witnesses and take any other steps it may consider necessary to ensure a proper consideration.

23. The chairman of the Board of Appeal shall have authority to administer oaths to the witnesses on the appeal.

24. In disposing of appeals the Board of Appeal may make such relaxations of these regulations, or of any order issued pursuant to these regulations, as the Board of Appeal considers necessary to ensure substantial justice.

25. The decision in writing of a majority of the members of the Board of Appeal attending a regularly called meeting shall be the decision of the Board, and the Board shall not be required to readjudicate the same appeal on the same set of facts.

26. Where the decision of the Board of Appeal relaxes any of the regulations herein, it shall be competent for the Inspector to issue a permit or an order conforming to said decision.

27. The Inspector shall act as secretary to the Board of Appeal and shall keep a record of proceedings of all meetings of said Board. He shall forward a copy of the decision of the Board in respect of any appeal to the appellant concerned.

PENALTY.

28. Any person failing to carry out any provisions of an order issued pursuant to these regulations shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable, on summary conviction, to a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars for each ten days such violation continues.

SCHEDULE A.

1. General.—Whenever a street or common sewer is not available, any sanitary house sewer shall be connected to a private sewage-disposal system. Such system shall consist of a septic tank with a tile disposal field or other approved means of disposal.

2. Location.—Any septic or other sewage-disposal tank shall be located outside and be separated from any wall of a dwelling-house. Any disposal field or area shall be located as far as practicable from any dwelling, and in no case shall disposal tiles be nearer at any point than ten feet to any dwelling. No sewage-disposal system shall be so located that it is liable to contaminate any existing domestic water-supply, nor shall it be located under any roadway or traffic way.

3. Materials.—The walls and floors of any septic tank or other sewage-disposal tank shall be of substantial water-tight construction.

4. Capacity.—No septic tank or other sewage-disposal tank shall have a capacity, below the invert of the outlet pipe, of less than four hundred gallons, and shall be constructed according to plans and specifications to be seen in or obtained from the office of the Inspector, or shall be constructed according to other specifications submitted to and approved by the Inspector.

Adequate provision shall be made for any condition that may result in a flow of sewage greater than four hundred gallons per day in any dwelling or fifteen gallons per person per day in any school or similar establishment. When computations or assumptions are made as to the expected flow of sewage, the septic tank shall be sufficiently large to allow a detention period of twenty-four hours and shall contain in addition a reasonable space for sludge storage.

5. Design.—The digestion or treatment and dosing chambers of any septic tank or other sewage-disposal tank shall be securely covered with concrete, metal, or wood and shall be provided with adequate means of access.

The depth of the digestion chamber shall not be less than forty-two inches below the level of the liquid outflow. A space of at least twelve inches shall be provided above the level of liquid outflow, for scum formation and gas escape.

The inlet and outlet pipes shall be of a size not less than that of the sewer served and shall be so provided with baffle plates or with inverted sanitary tee-fittings as to prevent any excess turbulence or disturbance of the scum. The outlet baffle or tee-fitting shall extend not less than six inches above and fifteen inches below the water-line. The inlet tee-fitting or baffle shall extend several inches above and ten to fifteen inches below the water-level in the tank. The level of the outlet shall be two to four inches below that of the inlet.

6. Dosing Chambers.—Any septic tank or other sewage-disposal tank of more than four hundred gallon capacity and discharging into a sub-surface tile disposal field or sand filter shall be provided with a dosing chamber of liquid capacity of at least one-tenth that of the treatment tank.

7. Dosing Siphons.—Dosing chambers shall be provided with siphons or other discharging devices and shall be automatic unless other means are provided for their proper operation. Such siphons or other discharging devices shall be made of corrosion-resistant material.

8. Storm Water.—Surface or storm water shall not be drained into any private sanitary sewage-disposal system.

9. Capacity of Tile Disposal Field.—In assessing the capacity of any private sub-surface irrigation field for sewage, consideration shall be given to the character of the soil and the capacity of the dosing chamber.

The length of open-joint tiling shall be not less than sixty lineal feet per dwelling in porous soils and shall be increased in proportion to the number of bedrooms in excess of two and not more than five at the minimum rate of eighteen lineal feet per bedroom.

For schools and similar establishments whose daily requirements are of limited duration, the length of open-joint tiling shall be not less than two hundred and sixty lineal feet.

The volume of the disposal tile and feeder pipes shall in no case be less than one hundred and twenty per cent. of the discharge volume of the dosing chamber.

10. Tile Disposal Field in Impervious Soil.—No sub-surface sewage irrigation field shall be constructed in clay or other heavy or impervious soil unless porous filtration media and adequate drainage are provided by removing such impervious soil and replacing it with porous filtering material, such as coarse sand, gravel, cinders, or broken stone, to a depth below the bottom of the disposal tile of not less than eighteen inches and preferably not less than twenty-four inches.

11. Size of Open-joint Tile and Method of Laying.—Ordinary field drainage tile of a size not less than four inches shall be used. They shall be laid on a firm base of broken stone, gravel, or on tile supports, and shall have a depth of cover not less than twelve inches nor greater than twenty-four inches. Open joints of one-eighth to three-eighths inch shall be left between tiles, and the upper half of such joints shall be covered by tarred paper, broken tile, or other approved protection. The tile trench shall be back-filled with coarse sand, gravel, cinders, or broken stone of particle size not greater than one-half inch in any dimension to a depth of six inches over the top and around the sides of the tile wherever the soil is less porous than coarse sand or gravel. Tiling shall not be laid under any roadway or trafficway.

12. Grade of Tiling.—The open-joint tiling shall be laid at a small uniform down grade not exceeding two inches per one hundred feet.

13. Lateral Branches of Tiling.—Lateral branches of open-joint tiling shall be not less than three feet apart and shall be connected to the liquid effluent pipe or to a header by sewer-pipe branch fittings. Header pipes shall be of a quality equal to that required for house sewer-pipes.

2. APPLICATION.

These regulations shall apply to all phases of the shell-fish industry or business, including the taking, producing, growing, relaying, storing, shucking, processing, packing, handling, transporting, shipping, and selling of shell-fish in the Province of British Columbia.

3. AUTHORITY TO MAKE INVESTIGATIONS.

Any authorized employee, or employees, of the British Columbia Department of Health and Welfare, Health Branch, shall have power to make such investigations or examinations as may be deemed necessary. Such investigations or examinations may include shell-fish, shell-fish grounds, and methods or facilities used or involved in the taking, producing, growing, relaying, storing, shucking, packing, processing, handling, transporting, shipping, or selling of shell-fish. For such purposes the employee or employees may, without fee or hindrance, enter, examine, survey, or investigate all grounds, buildings, equipment, vehicles, structures, boats, or other places or things, either publicly or privately owned. In the course of any such investigations, the said employee or employees shall have authority to take free of charge such samples of shell-fish for examination as may be deemed necessary to carry out provisions of these regulations.

4. CERTIFICATE OF COMPLIANCE.

It shall be unlawful for any person to operate in any one or more of the following categories without first having obtained a certificate of compliance with these regulations in the particular phase or phases of the business in which the application for permission to operate is made. The issuance of such certificates shall be considered only following written application to the Deputy Minister of Health, outlining one or more of the following certificates desired:—

- (1) Shipper of shell stock only.
- (2) Shucking and packing plant.

5. GROWING AREAS.

All shellfish-growing areas shall be classified as "Approved Shellfish-growing Areas," "Restricted Shellfish-growing Areas," or as "Closed Shellfish-growing Areas."

Such classification shall be based upon such sanitary and bacteriological surveys as are deemed necessary by the Deputy Minister of Health.

6. TAKING OF SHELLFISH FROM VARIOUS CLASSES OF GROWING AREAS.

(a) Approved Areas.—Shellfish may be taken for market purposes from approved areas at any time, provided that any rules or regulations of the Department of Fisheries concerning conservation or Regulation No. 7 (b) concerning relaying are not violated.

(b) Restricted Areas.—Shell-fish shall not be taken from any restricted area, except under the written permission of the Deputy Minister of Health, and only under any specific conditions imposed by the Deputy Minister of Health.

(c) Closed Areas.—Shell-fish shall not be taken from closed areas, except for the purpose of depletion, and then only under written permission and strict control of the Deputy Minister of Health. Oyster leases shall not be granted in closed areas.

7. TAKING AND HANDLING.

(a) Boats.—All boats, scows, or floats used for tonging, dredging, buying, or transporting shell-fish (including "buy" boats) shall be so constructed, operated, and maintained as to prevent contamination of the shell-fish in the boat.

(b) Relaying.—Shell-fish may be relaid from one approved growing area to another approved growing area at any time, provided that such relaying shall not conflict with any regulations of the Department of Fisheries concerning shell-fish pests. Shell-fish may be relaid from restricted or closed areas to an approved area only after written permission is obtained from the Deputy Minister of Health.

(c) Oysters.—All oysters shall be held on a registered oyster lease for a period of at least two weeks immediately prior to taking for market purposes.

A sketch drawn to scale shall be shown on the reverse side of the certificate indicating the fixed location of the float or structures and all the potential hazards to which shell-fish in the designated areas may be exposed. The presence of usable sink floats in the water shall be deemed to be evidence that floating is practised.

(d) Screening.—During seasons when insects, especially flies, are on the wing, space used for washing and packing shucked shell-fish shall have all openings effectively screened, unless other means are provided to prevent the entrance of flies. This regulation shall be considered violated if flies are present in the washing and packing room.

(e) Light.—Ample light to work by shall be provided in all working-rooms. When necessary, natural light shall be supplemented with artificial light. Light intensity of not less than 5 foot-candles shall be maintained on all working surfaces when workers are at their working positions.

(j) Water-supply.—Every plant shall be provided with an ample supply of water under pressure, from a source approved by the Provincial Department of Health. The supply shall be accessible to all parts of the plant, adequate in quantity, and of a safe sanitary quality. An adequate supply of hot water shall be available at all times during plant operating hours. No cross or backflow connections with unapproved water-supplies or other possible sources of contamination shall be permitted.

9. EQUIPMENT.

(a) Shucking-benches.—The tops of shucking-benches and the walls immediately adjacent thereto to a height of 2 feet above the benches shall be of smooth concrete, metal, or other non-absorbent material, free from cracks or crevices and so constructed that drainage is complete and rapid. Shucking-blocks shall be removable unless an integral part of the bench and shall be of solid one-piece construction. There shall be no boxes, shelves, or nails above the benches where miscellaneous articles might accumulate.

All metal-to-metal seams and joints shall be well filled with solder and dressed to a smooth finish. All such equipment shall be kept in good repair, free from breaks, rust, and paint. The use of enamelware is not permitted.

the hand shall be of clean, washable, or waterproof material and shall be bactericidally treated and, when not in use, stored in such a manner as will protect them from contamination before again put to use.

10. REFRIGERATION ROOMS OR ICE-BOXES.

Where a refrigerator or ice-box is used for the retention of shell-fish, it shall be so constructed as to permit easy and thorough cleaning and have adequate capacity to store all stock which may be shucked or packed in the plant in any one day. The refrigerator or ice-box shall be well insulated and have an impervious lining; the floor shall be graded to drain quickly; and an accurate thermometer shall be kept in each refrigerator at a point pre-determined to have the highest temperature. No drain from a refrigerator or ice-box shall be connected directly to a sewer or other waste-disposal system.

11. ICE.

Any ice used shall be obtained from an approved source and shall be stored and handled in a cleanly manner. No ice or other foreign substance shall be allowed to come in contact with shucked stock.

12. OPERATION OF PLANT.

(a) Cleaning.—The floors and walls of shucking and packing rooms, unoccupied portions of storage-bins and shucking-benches shall be swept and flushed with water from an approved source until clean within two hours after operations for the day have ceased. Windows and skylights shall be kept clean. Refrigerators or ice-boxes shall be washed out once a week or more often if necessary. All utensils and equipment which come in contact with shucked shell-fish shall be thoroughly scoured until clean immediately following each day's operations, using warm water and a suitable detergent. Shucking-pails shall be rinsed with running water before each filling. Air-pipes in blowers shall be removed at the end of each day's operations, and their interior and exterior surfaces thoroughly cleaned. The management shall designate an individual who shall be held responsible for the satisfactory cleaning of all equipment.

(b) Bactericidal Treatment.—All utensils which may come in contact with shucked shell-fish, such as pails, knives, hammers, breaking-irons, buckets, skimmers, tanks, tubs, colanders, measures, and paddles, shall be subjected to bactericidal treatment after thorough cleansing within three hours of the termination of each day's operations and, following such treatment, shall be stored in a place where they are protected from contamination while not in use. Large equipment, such as blowers and trays, which cannot be stored in a protected place shall be thoroughly cleaned at the end of each day's operations and be subjected to bactericidal treatment immediately before use.

The bactericidal treatment shall be accomplished by any one of the following methods:—

- (i) Exposure in a steam cabinet for at least fifteen minutes to a temperature of at least 170° F., or for at least five minutes to a temperature of at least 200° F., said cabinet being equipped with an accurate thermometer located in the coldest zone.
- (ii) Immersion in hot water at a temperature of 170° F. or more for at least two minutes.

- (iv) Immersed in or exposed to a flow of chlorine solution for a period of at least two minutes. The initial strength of the chlorine solution, which shall be prepared fresh each day, shall be such that after final use it will contain not less than 50 parts per million free chlorine.

- (v) Any other method approved by the Deputy Minister of Health.

Under no circumstances shall formaldehyde or other preservatives be used where such preservatives might come in contact with shell-fish meats. At least once each week all shucking benches, blocks, and stalls shall be flushed with scalding water or washed with hypochlorite solution containing 50 parts per million or more available chlorine or other disinfecting agent approved by the Medical Health Officer.

(c) Waste-disposal.—Shells, washings, and other wastes shall be disposed of in such a manner as not to contaminate the shell-fish, cause a nuisance, or interfere with the sanitary operation of the plant.

(d) Supervision.—The management shall designate an individual to be responsible for the compliance with these regulations having to do with plant cleanliness, personnel, and operation.

(e) Miscellaneous.—All unused or abandoned equipment or material foreign to the operation of a shell-fish shucking and packing plant shall be removed from the operating parts of the plant. The shucking and packing rooms of the plant shall not be used simultaneously for the handling of shell-fish and the carrying-on of other operations. All animals and rodents shall be excluded from all parts of the plant.

13. SHUCKING, PACKING, SHIPPING, AND SALE OF SHELL-FISH.

(a) Washing and packing Shucked Stock.

- (i) Persons working in the packing-room shall wear clean outer garments protected with clean water-proof or washable aprons or coats. When manual handling of shucked shell-fish which have received their final washing becomes necessary, clean rubber gloves shall be worn, or the hands shall be washed immediately before such manual handling.

- (ii) All shucked stock shall be thoroughly washed with cold water for a period not exceeding three minutes. The water used for such washing shall meet the bacteriological requirements for drinking-water. After washing or blowing, the washed shell-fish shall not be exposed to contamination. Shucked stock shall not be returned to the shucking-room after it has been delivered to the packing-room.

- (iii) The packing of shucked shell-fish shall take place only in the same plant as the one in which they are shucked. The repacking of shucked shell-fish is prohibited.

- (iv) The adulteration or the addition of preservatives, water, or ice to shucked shell-fish is prohibited.

- (v) All shucked shell-fish shall be packed, shipped, and sold only in containers as prescribed by these regulations.

(b) Refrigeration.—Shucked shell-fish shall be cooled to a temperature of 50° F. or less within two hours after the shell-fish are shucked and kept at or below 50° F. until subjected to a cooking process or delivered to the consumer. If shucked shell-fish are frozen, they shall be kept in a frozen condition until delivered to the consumer. If subjected to a quick-freezing process, the temperature of shucked shell-fish shall be held at 10° F. or lower until delivered to the consumer.

(c) Shipping-containers.

- (i) Shucked shell-fish shall be packed, shipped, and sold, retail or otherwise, either in single-service containers made of clean impervious materials positively sealed or in such containers so sealed that tampering with the container can be detected. After sealing, the container must be water-tight.

- (ii) The packer's certificate number preceded by "B.C." shall be impressed, embossed, lithographed, or otherwise permanently recorded on every shipping-container.

14. PACKING AND SHIPPING SHELL STOCK.

(a) All shell stock shall be packed and shipped in clean barrels, sacks, crates, boxes, or other approved type of container, or, if in bulk, in clean railroad-cars, trucks, boats, or other approved type of vehicle under such conditions as will keep the shell-fish alive and prevent spoilage or contamination.

(b) All shell stock offered for sale shall be alive and reasonably clean and free from mud. The washing of shell stock, when necessary, shall be with water the standard of purity of which is at least as rigid as that prescribed for growing areas.

15. IDENTIFICATION OF SHELL STOCK.

When shell stock is shipped in containers, each container shall be plainly identified by a tag or label securely fastened thereto and bearing, plainly marked, the certificate number of the shipper, his name and address, the name and address of the consignee, and the kind and quantity of the shell stock in the container, and, either coded or uncoded, the date the shell-fish were taken from the water. Tags and labels shall be made of substantial stock, reasonably water-proof, and at least 2 by 4 inches in size.

When shell stock is shipped in bulk, each shipment shall be accompanied by a statement or invoice plainly indicating the kind and quantity of the shell stock in each lot of the shipment, the certificate number of the shipper, his name and address, the name and address of the consignee, and, either coded or uncoded, the earliest date the shell-fish were taken from the water.

16. RECORDS.

Each shipper, reshipper, packer, and wholesaler of shell-fish shall keep an accurate daily record of the date, vendor's certificate number, persons from whom purchased, quantity and kind, and the dealers to whom sold for every lot of shell-fish received, shipped, or sold by him. Retailers shall keep a record of each lot received. Such records shall be subject to inspection by health authorities.

17. HEALTH OF EMPLOYEES.

At the request of the Deputy Minister of Health or the Medical Health Officer any employee or applicant for employment as a shell-fish handler shall be examined and questioned under the provisions of the Provincial Communicable Disease Regulations of British Columbia.

No person known to be infected with typhoid (or paratyphoid) fever, dysentery, or other communicable disease likely to be transmitted by shell-fish, to be a carrier of such disease, or who has infected wounds or open lesions on the exposed portions of the body shall be employed or permitted in a shucking and packing plant or permitted to handle shell-fish in any way. If the owner or manager has any reason to suspect that any employee has contracted such a communicable disease, he shall immediately notify the Medical Health Officer, who shall take such action as may be indicated. Pending such action by the Medical Health Officer, or the recovery of the employee, said employee shall be excluded from the plant.

18. GENERAL.

(a) Where no provision is made in these regulations for any state, condition, or other things found to exist in connection with any phase of the shell-fish industry or business, the Deputy Minister of Health may direct the operator as to the best means to adopt, to secure proper sanitation and hygienic conditions in connection therewith.

(b) Where a condition exists which, in the opinion of any authorized employee of the Provincial Department of Health, is a menace to public health, he may order the operator to cease the operation of all or any part of the said operator's shell-fish business until such conditions have been remedied, and until the Medical Health Officer shall grant permission to reopen operations. Any person who continues to operate a shell-fish business after being directed by him to cease operations and before being permitted to reopen the business shall be guilty of an infraction of these regulations for every day on which the business is operated and liable to the penalty hereinafter imposed by the "Health Act."

(c) The operator of any shell-fish business who operates such a business other than in accordance with the conditions provided in these regulations shall be guilty of an offence against these regulations:

(e) Notwithstanding any other provisions of these regulations, the Deputy Minister of Health may distinguish between different species of shell-fish.

19. SCOPE OF THESE REGULATIONS.

When any requirement of these regulations is at variance with any by-law of a municipality, the more restrictive shall apply.

These regulations shall come into operation on the first day of October, 1949.
